National level Virtual Conference for student researchers on “Reaching out in COVID 19 : Social, Economic and Psychological Dimensions of Human Life during The Pandemic’ on 25 March 2021 organized by the Department of Business Communication and Student Research Cell under the aegis of IQAC.

Research is the cornerstone of knowledge. Young minds are flintstones that help ignite new avenues of growth, be it in the field of science and technology Economics and psychology politics or the social arena. The venture that started as a small student quality circle yearning for enrichment has today grown and spread its branches. We started these student conferences as a project in experiential learning wherein students themselves learn to organize a research conference. A conference for students, By students, a project that began as an intra-collegiate activity has today, being nurtured by the zest and enthusiasm of our students got together young researchers from places asunder

This year the Virtual Conference for student researchers on “Reaching out in COVID 19 : Social, Economic and Psychological Dimensions of Human Life during The Pandemic’ on 25 March saw students all over India contributed research papers on the themes given. we have researchers from Maharashtra, Tamilnadu, Puducherry and even Darjeeling Coimbatore , come together on this virtual platform to share their research studies.
